RED SUN

The Greatest Fighting Machine
The West Has Ever Known

Charles Bronson stars as a gun-fighter who tangles and then teams up with samurai warrior Toshiro Mifune. They track a double-crossing bandit (Alain Delon) who leads us all to a wild and woolly Indian shoot-em-up finale. Ursula Andress co-stars in this East meets Western. Some violence. (PG-1:52) November 5,9,13,17,20,22

"DEAD CERT"

This is a steeplechase thriller right down to the deadly finish. Scott Antony stars as an amateur jockey who dares to expose a tough gambling syndicate that's bent on fixing the British Grand National, a race on par with the Kentucky Derby.

Adult theme. (PG-1:32) November 8,17

"GATOR"

Burt (White Lightning) Reynolds is Gator and he's after Bama McCall, a grinning country crime boss played by Jerry Reed. It's action galore plus luscious Lauren Hutton along with Jack Weston and Alice Ghostly. Violence. (PG-1:56) Nov 5,8,11,19

RAQUEL WELCH'S electrifying performance runs the gamut from sizzling disco numbers and torchy love ballads to lighthearted humor. Don't miss her final HBO engagement. November 5,8

BEST SCREENPLAY PADDY CHAYEFSKY

"Network is outrageous. It's also brilliantly, savagely funny," says The New York Times. Superstars Faye Dunaway, William Holden and Robert Duvall are fast-talking TV execs playing people like pinballs in order to ring up higher ratings. One is Peter Finch, an about-to-be-fired old-time anchorman who announces his axing on the air. Suddenly he flips out and, overnight, becomes a wild-eyed and ranting prophet-hero. Paddy Chayefsky's brilliant Oscar-winning script is a vivid and flashing satire, making this a film of chilling truth as much as hell-bent laughter. Adult language, nudity. (R-2:00) November 13,16,23,26,29

THE RITZ

Bumbling Jack Weston seeks refuge from his mobster brother-in-law, Jerry Stiller, in a gay bathhouse in Manhattan. Among the residents is entertainer Googie Gomez, Rita Moreno, who thinks Weston is a big producer. She tries to "straighten" him out and he thinks she's a guy in drag. Kaye Ballard co-stars. A very, very funny flick and Rita steals the show. Adult humor. (R-1:31) November 11,14,18,21,29

Whiffs

Elliott Gould is a loyal human guinea pig for the Army—until his body goes gimpy from too many whiffs of weird chemicals. Drugged out of the Army, he meets Harry Guardino and they turn into laughing-gas bandits. Eddie Albert, Godfrey Cambridge and Jennifer O'Neill co-star. Adult humor. (PG-1:36) November 25, 27, 30

CASINO DE PARIS

Paris plays host to SRO and brings us its legendary, world famous floor show—Casino de Paris. This show has a history as colorful and rich as Paris itself. Its tradition of elegant spectacle dates back to the 1890's where the art of striptease and naughtiness established a genre of entertainment. A milestone and one of the most famous such acts was done by Angele Herard whose pretext for disrobing was a simple one—an itch! The itch presumably caused by a flea led her to a careful hunt which included much movement and an artful shedding of her undergarments. This art led to everything from saucy postcards to the early silent films “for gentlemen only.” The Casino tradition is synonymous with the Star tradition. From famous dress designers to the giants of the stage—Piaf, Chevalier and now the famous Line Renaud, who’s returned to the show after headlining in Las Vegas for several years. SRO invites you on this verité look at Paris—from the backstage preparations of the glittering, topless showgirls to the grandest and oldest floor show in the world—the Casino de Paris! November 27 and continuing in December

DAN BALIOTTI

Each week throughout the season Home Box Office will bring you a major college game involving teams ranked in the nation’s top 20. The first game will be a November 30 tussle between scrappy Oregon State and North Carolina with its famed four-corners offense. Other matchups to be telecast by HBO in the near future will show Stanford meeting high-powered San Francisco, Alabama challenging Michigan and Marquette facing Louisville.

HBO SOUNDTRACK

It rained on November 8, 1972. Poured. The wind howled down Manhattan's skyscrapered caverns. That little-remembered meteorological fact is wedged in the memories of those who attended the birth of HBO that night. For as Gerald Levin, today HBO chairman, paced nervously around a small studio, engineers on the towering Pan Am Building struggled to right HBO's antenna, toppled by the wind. In minutes, HBO was scheduled to send out its first film to its first pay cable subscribers—324 of them in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. With five minutes to spare, the antenna stood upright and HBO was underway with Sometimes a Great Notion.

The notion is five years old this month and growing. Subscribers now number more than 750,000. In September 1975, HBO literally rocketed into the space age when it began beaming programming to an orbiting satellite. Nearly 150 "receive stations" now pepper the map, helping HBO reach cable systems in 45 states. Monthly entertainment specials produced exclusively for subscribers are well-established and well-liked, as much a launching pad for pay TV's success as that first satellite connection.

RCA American satellite. It beams Home Box Office programming to receiver earth stations in 45 states from geostationary orbit 22,300 miles above earth.

We look back with pleasure and ahead with excitement as we welcome you into the next five years of spectacular home entertainment from HBO.

HBO welcomes letters from subscribers. Please address all mail to: HBO Customer Services, Time & Life Bldg., Rockefeller Center, New York, N.Y. 10020.
